

Selling your property

If You Want to Sell Property

Selling your property is a large and important business transaction. The selling process can be very complex and time consuming; however, with the aid of our services, you can be certain that you will come away completely satisfied and as stress free as possible.

One of our main responsibilities is to arrive at an accurate estimate of value for your property, so we ensure a detailed evaluation and analysis of every part of your property. Our work doesn't stop there, as we will fully investigate the real estate market and compare your property with similar listings to make sure that you receive a fair amount for your property.

We will follow a step-by-step marketing program that will provide you with service that is professional and courteous. In the end, you will be sure that the price you set reflects the true value of your home under current market conditions . . . rest assured that you will be completely satisfied with your selling price once we have completed the proper research and evaluation of your property.

Contact us

to get started: tamarindo@abccostarica.com